

BANKING NOTICE.

THE UNDERSIGNED have formed a partnership under the firm name of "SPRECKELS & Co." for the purpose of carrying on a general banking and exchange business at Honolulu, and such other places in the Hawaiian Kingdom as may be deemed advisable.

(Signed) CLAUD SPRECKELS.
Wm G. IRWIN.
P. F. LOW.

Honolulu, Jan. 14th, 1884.

Referring to the above we beg to inform the business public that we are prepared to make loans, discount approved notes, and purchase exchange at the best current rates. Our arrangements for selling exchange on the principal points in the United States, Europe, China, Japan and Australia are being made, and when perfected, due notice will be given. We shall also be prepared to receive deposits on open account, make collections, and conduct a general banking and exchange business.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

The boys and girls of the present are the men and women of the future: the character of the future men and women is being formed by the present training of the boys and girls: home influence has more to do with the formation of their character than school instruction. Let boys and girls grow up without proper home restraint and discipline, and it is not reasonable to expect them to become good and useful members of society. Let boys and girls be carefully trained and wisely disciplined at home, and they will show it in their mature years. Judging by this rule, what are we to expect of a large proportion of the rising generation of Honolulu? Parental care and home restraint appear to be sadly wanting. Late in the evenings crowds of children, of both sexes and all sizes, congregate together and play about the streets, in the most disreputable parts of the city. There they learn and practice foul language and other bad things, which the best schools in the country can never entirely counteract. If parents and guardians do not feel sufficient interest in their children to prevent their thus running wild, the police should interpose a check.

THE CHINESE THEATRE.

It is high time that the Chinese Theatre were either shut up by the authorities or placed under more vigilant police surveillance. This belief is entertained by many respectable Chinese as well as by people of other nationalities. Some people regard it in the light of a public nuisance, because of the perpetual din and noise kept up every night until midnight, and often later. This is the view of those living in the immediate neighborhood, who are compelled to endure the annoyance night after night. But there is a much stronger objection on moral grounds. The Chinese Theatre is said to be the common resort of gamblers and opium-smokers, where they commit their illegal practices with a feeling of comparative security from detection. Not only at night-time, during and after the theatrical performances, are gambling and opium-smoking perpetrated in the small rooms attached to the main building, but in the day-time also. These statements are made on the authority of Chinamen themselves, and if correct, of which we have no doubt, it would be well either to cancel the proprietor's license or subject internal operations to a stricter watch.

THE TWO TELEPHONES.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Your correspondent "Rational" suggests the amalgamation of the two telephone companies, and therein I agree with him. He seems to me, however, to have lost sight of some important points. The community has already received some benefit from the competition by a considerable reduction in the rates of the old company. Should the new company retire, what guarantee is there that the old one will not again raise their monthly charges? The stock of the Hawaiian Bell Company is in the hands of about a dozen individuals, whereas nearly three hundred are interested directly in the Mutual Company. The object of the former is to make money for themselves, while supplying a good article; the object of the latter is not to make money but to reduce the individual cost to a minimum. It is a case of the few against the many, and who is to give way? About two hundred of the stockholders in the Mutual Company have agreed to use the instruments of that company, where then will the other company be? It has its instruments and its wires which would of course be useful to the new company, which would doubtless be glad to purchase them. I think the only way to succeed in amalgamating would be for the stockholders of each company to appoint arbitrators to decide on the amount to be paid by either to the other. The Mutual has, as Rational says, a good site. It also proposes to utilize, as much as possible, the cable system and so abolish the unsightly nuisance that exists on Merchant street. The more shareholders there are, in the company, the better, and I hope never to see the stock of the Mutual gradually fall into a few hands. The directors should, by their by-laws, try to prevent this. I hold stock in neither company, I feel the necessity for a good telephonic system, I do not want to see a cut-throat policy adopted by the two companies, I do not wish to be compelled to have two telephones in my house, I do not wish to see the material of the old company wasted or their tower tumble down. I should like to see a good system established, not that there is anything to complain about the existing one, at a reasonable rate and with as many people directly interested in it as possible. Holding these views I hope that I may not be considered

EARLY CLOSING.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—In reading the letter in your paper signed "Clerk," I was sorry to see he advocated Saturday. If I am not mistaken, it was because that day, for which Mr. R. C. Janion procured the signatures (which were legion), being found inconvenient on account of most of the steamers arriving, that the early closing has almost died out, one or two firms only keeping up the practice. Wednesday or Thursday seems to be the best time, as most of the steamers are in by Saturday afternoon, and away again by Thursday night.

Clerks idea of Saturday is very nice, if practicable, but I fear it has been proved too inconvenient to most employers, but which ever will suit, let's have the day. It was customary in the Colonies to close on Thursday afternoon and the five hours never seemed to be missed. After 1 o'clock all offices were closed and shops shut up, so let it be here.

CHIMHOOS.

POLICE COURT.

Kaco, malicious injury by diverting water at Kamoiohili; a nol. pro. was entered.

BOYS AND THIMBLES

No man can, like the writer, live sixty years without often wishing he had learned to use a sewing thimble well in his early boyhood, especially if he has gone about the world much. Buttons will come off, stitches will break, and how handy it is for boys at school, for men at a hotel, at a friend's house, indeed, anywhere away from home—often at home—to be able to whip on a button, stop a starting rent, and do many other little sewings, without calling in a woman, or perchance sending for a tailor, before being able to appear at a hotel table. One seldom, if ever, learns to use a thimble, if this part of his education has been neglected in small boyhood. The writer has traveled a good deal, and at a rough guess, he has broken threads at least five hundred times in attempting to work a needle through a button or garment without a thimble.

Boys, take our advice, and every one of you learn to use a thimble well before you grow up. Do it this very winter: it is not feminine to do so. Do it, and, if you live long, you will many times thank us for this advice.—American Agriculturist.
